Jenkins & Wynne

FAMILY TRADITION

...our customers know it matters

As a boy, Teddy McCain liked the body styles of the Fords his father brought home and learned to appreciate their value. So when he came to Clarksville 46 years ago, he decided to buy a 1965 Ford Mustang from Jenkins & Wynne. Back then, he had no way of knowing that the friendships he would establish in the management, sales and service areas would come to mean as much to him as the quality of the Fords they sell. Whether it's time for a new vehicle, routine service, or even an out of town emergency Teddy depends on the familiar folks at Jenkins & Wynne. Over the years, he's purchased 22 Ford vehicles and even brings his grandchildren to the dealership so they can be part of the Jenkins & Wynne family.

We're proud to serve loyal customers like Teddy and his entire family. Come by the dealership and let us show you that "experience matters" and that it's what YOU experience as our customer that matters most.

"My wife's fondest memory was when one of our grandchildren was gravely ill in the Vanderbilt Children's Hospital and she had not brought clothing with her and needed to stay at the hospital. Jenkins & Wynne came through for her and brought her a suitcase to the hospital. They were going to see that we received any help we needed during that terrible time."
